Coalition PLUS unveils its new logo: a renewed symbol for commitment and global solidarity in the fight against HIV, health, and human rights of affected populations.

Dakar, Senegal and Pantin, France - Coalition PLUS, an international non-governmental organization committed to the fight against HIV, access to health, and the defense of human rights, is proud to announce the launch of its new logo. This change symbolizes a new era of solidarity, innovation, and commitment in the fight for health and human rights worldwide.

The new logo of Coalition PLUS, designed after extensive consultation with our members, partners, and the communities we serve, reflects our mission and core values. It represents unity, diversity, and our unwavering commitment to social justice and health for all.

"With this new logo, we reaffirm our commitment to being at the forefront of the fight for health and human rights of populations affected by HIV. It is a symbol of our evolution as an organization while remaining true to our roots and core values," says Mehdi Karkouri, President of Coalition PLUS.

The launch of the new logo coincides with the 15th anniversary of Coalition PLUS, marking an important milestone in our history. We will continue to work tirelessly to eliminate barriers to access to health care and to defend the rights of the most vulnerable people.
